

My dear Anne — I have copied the letter to the Queen into thy book. I was going to add "It is requested that this may not be published" but thought thou might not like it written in the book, or prefer doing it thyself — Please not to let it get into print. I should like much to have a copy of Gerrit Smith's letter to send to a friend of mine in Philad — with an injunction not to give a copy of it to any one — I did not copy it because I think if thou hast no objection it ought to be in the Liberator — but if thou dost not wish to let it be printed, please grant me a copy, I add to the favor by copying it for me, or requesting Caroline or Deborah to do so — Angelina does not feel equal to writing in the book, but has put her name to the letter —

affly S. M. Grimké —

If S. M. Child has any suggestion to make about the letter we will thank her for it — It may be useful if it is ever printed —

We think instead of putting the originals of letters into thy book the better plan would be to get some one who writes as beautifully as Lydia Dodge of Salem to copy them into the book. If merely paste in their Autographs the letters look too dismal. It will not help to fill up the book —

There shall be some of Lucretia Mott's writ-ting in it —

Thou art G
